

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Robin Adair.

What's this dull town to me?
Robin's not near—
He whom I wished to see,
Wished far to be;
Where's all the joy and mirth,
Made life a heaven on earth?
Oh, they're all dead with thee,
Robin Adair!

What made the assembly shine?
Robin Adair!
What made the hall so dim?
Robin was there;
What, when the play was o'er,
Made me my heart so sore?
Oh, it was starting with
Robin Adair!

But now thou art far from me,
Robin Adair!
But now I never see
Robin Adair!
Yet him I loved so well,
Still in my heart shall dwell,
Oh, I can never forget
Robin Adair!

Welcome on shore again,
Robin Adair!
Welcome once more again,
Robin Adair!
I feel thy trembling hand,
Tears in thy eyes stand,
To greet thy native land,
Robin Adair!

Long I never saw thee, love,
Robin Adair!
Still I pressed for thee, love,
Robin Adair!
When thou wert far at sea,
Many made love to me,
But still I thought on thee,
Robin Adair!

Come to my heart again,
Robin Adair!
Never to part again,
Robin Adair!
And if thou still art true,
I will be constant, too,
And will wed thee late or soon,
Robin Adair!

Gilliam—Stewart.

Only relatives and intimate friends were present at the marriage of Miss Emma Stewart to Mr. Marshall Gilliam, which took place last evening at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride's mother, the Rev. Dr. J. Calvin Stewart, No. 101 West Grace Street. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Stewart, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Russell Gell and Rev. Dr. James Power Smith. The parties were suitably decorated with roses and carnations. Mr. Hoge Gilliam, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was best man and only attendant.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding supper was served.

After a brief wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Gilliam will be at home at "The Chestfield."

Those from a distance who attended the marriage were Mr. J. B. Jamieson, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jamieson, Mrs. George Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Thompson, all of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Mary Sherman, of Winchester, Va.

Roane—Roane.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Roane, No. 212 East Grace Street, when their daughter, Miss Gertrude Roane, became the bride of Mr. Lawrence Courney Roane, the Rev. Charles Galloway officiating.

The parties were suitably decorated with a profusion of palms, ferns and flowers. Miss Emma M. Taylor was at the piano, and rendered the bridal hymn from "Lullaby," as the procession, and "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" as the recessional. During the ceremony she played "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," All very softly.

The bride was attended by Miss Anna Roane and Miss Rosalind Sutton, of King and Queen counties, as maids of honor. They were becoming gowns of white net over silk and carried white chrysanthemums. Mr. Callen (brother) was best man. The bride entered with her brother, Mr. S. H. Roane, Jr. She wore a very modish going-away gown of blue chiffon broadcloth, with hat and gloves in match, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Roane left immediately after the ceremony for Cincinnati and Chicago and other cities of the Northwest. They will be at home after November 25th at No. 212 East Grace Street.

Many beautiful presents were received from friends in Virginia and at a distance.

Mrs. Roane is a charming young woman and has a host of friends. Mr. Roane is a valued employee in the Chesapeake and Ohio office here, and is popular both in business and social life.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. R. H. Sutton and Miss Rosalind Sutton, of King and Queen counties; Mrs. Pinckney and the Misses Pinckney, of Lancaster Point; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sutton, of King and Queen counties; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Roane, the groom's parents, of Gloucester county; Mr. and Mrs. James Roane, of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Roane, of Baltimore; and Mrs. J. E. Bland, formerly of Gloucester, Va.

Richardson—Stagg.

A very pretty marriage took place yesterday afternoon at 8 o'clock, when Miss Mattie Leatha Stagg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Stagg, became the bride of Mr. James Herbert Richardson, son of the late Captain Theodore Richardson, of Gloucester county. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. B. Betty, of Park Place Methodist Church, took place in the home of the bride, No. 4 South Myers Street, where decorations were in palms and ferns and pink-shaded lamps.

Miss Allen Stagg, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and was charmingly dressed in white tulle de chine, trimmed with Irish lace, with a white chiffon veil, trimmed with plumes and pink roses. Her bouquet was of maidenhair ferns.

Mr. Clifton Richardson, of Gloucester county, the groom's brother, was best man, and Mr. Percy Phillips played the wedding march.

The bride entered with her maid of honor and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man. She wore a white, gossamer gown of blue broadcloth, with hat to match and carried bride's roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will be at home in Mountcastle, Va., after a short

Soul and Body.

By WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

Other selections from this author, biographical, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

Poor Soul, the centre of my sinful earth,
Fool'd by those rebel powers that thee array,
Why dost thou pine within and suffer dearth,
Painting thy outward walls so costly gay?

Why so large cost, having so short lease,
Dost thou upon thy fading mansion spend?
Shall worms, inheritors of this excess,
Eat up thy charge? Is this thy body's end?

Then, Soul, live thou upon thy servant's loss,
And let that pine to aggravate thy store;
Buy terms divine in selling hours of dross;
Within be fed, without be rich no more!

So shalt thou feed on death, that feeds on men,
And death once dead, there's no more dying then.

ONLY FARM LABOR.

Commissioner Koiner Living Strictly Within the Law.

In view of the agitation of the South since the case in which it is alleged that State has violated the United States immigration laws, Commissioner of Agriculture Koiner, who has just returned from a trip to Washington, said yesterday that he was living strictly within the law.

"I have instructed all my agents abroad," he said, "not to engage or send any other than bona fide farmers, and I have many applications from prospective immigrants, mechanics, and other classes of skilled laborers, but they have all been rejected."

It seems that the Federal attitude on the subject of immigration is very strict, and that it is hard to import skilled labor to this country without running counter to their provisions.

The law prohibits the importation of foreigners under contract or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor or service, or having reference to the performance of labor or service, by any person, firm or corporation in the United States.

It is also made a violation of the law for any person, firm or corporation to knowingly assist or induce the importation of labor or migration of any foreigner or foreigners into the United States to perform labor or service of any kind under contract or agreement.

"LONG TOM" BACK.

Returns From Mountain Home With Drooping Heart.

Capital Policeman George W. (Long Tom) Haynes has returned from his home in far-off Dickenson, where he went to help his friend, Senator Bruce, for Congress. The Republicans ran over the Democratic movement in Dickenson in such a merciless manner that he is discussing the election only with close friends, and then in a very mournful way.

"Long Tom" is a fine judge of politics, and he has said "Dickenson has written a friend here that it was all over. This was two days prior to the election, and his opinion was fully vindicated."

Dickenson showed a Republican gain, and Tom says "they bought some of the voters' powerful help."

He said he was "sore" over the defeat of Senator Bruce, to whom he is fairly devoted, and regards it much in the nature of a personal loss.

"Did you see Mr. Bruce before you returned?" asked a Times-Herald man. "Now," replied, "and I'm glad I didn't. I didn't like to talk with him after Dickenson kicked out like she did."

McCUE'S HEIRS SUE FOR INSURANCE

Case Against Northwestern Life Argued Before United States Court.

The famous McCue case was brought to public notice again yesterday, when argument was heard in the United States Court by Judge Henry C. McDowell, of Lynchburg, in the suit of the heirs of the late J. Samuel McCue, of Charlottesville, vs. The Northwestern Life Insurance Company for $50,000.

The case had its origin in the Corporation Court of Charlottesville, but was removed to the Federal Court for the reason that the defendant company is a non-resident corporation.

Judge McDowell, though hearing the case in this city, was really sitting at the District Court of the Western District of Virginia.

Messrs. Daniel Harman and G. B. Sinclair appeared for McCue's heirs, while the company was represented by Messrs. White & White, of Norfolk.

The case was heard in chambers, and the court took the briefs and will hand down an opinion later on.

The former Mayor of Charlottesville, who was damaged for wife-murder, had about $50,000 insurance on his life, distributed among various companies. All the policies have been paid save that of the Northwestern, and a small one in the Royal Arcanum. The Northwestern declined to pay its policy of $25,000 on the ground that to do so would tend to encourage the commission of crime in similar cases.

Suit was brought by the heirs, and the matter is now in the hands of the court.

HARD-WORKED OFFICERS.

Governor and Commissioners Eat Lunch at the Capitol.

Public business was on a busy basis about the Capitol yesterday, and some of the highest officials in the building ate their lunches in their private offices, because they could not spare the time to go out for them. This was true of Governor Swanson and Commissioner of Agriculture Koiner.

A servant brought the Governor's lunch over to the Mansion, and the Commissioner had theirs sent to Room A restaurant.

There seemed to be an unusual pressure of business in the executive department as well as in the others, to which reference will be made.

Superintendent Eggleston and Secretary Thompson came to their desks early and remained until late in the evening, disposing of important official matters.
